The Jewell and Carl F. Emswiller Jr. Interprofessional Symposium is committed to educating health professional students and practitioners about providing meaningful patient care through innovation in interprofessional practice. The symposium was endowed by Jewell Emswiller in honor of her late husband, Carl, and their shared passion for collaborative, patient-centered pharmacy practice. Carl Emswiller was a leader and innovator in community pharmacy practice. He championed pharmacist-provided clinical activities, such as medication therapy management and reviews, and collaborative practice agreements that improved the health of patients. He served and chaired local, state, and national organizations advocating for this cause.

Emswiller’s career began in 1962 when he graduated from the Medical College of Virginia and joined Eugene White’s ground breaking, office-based pharmacy in Berryville, VA. Alongside White, Emswiller created one of the nation’s first pharmaceutical care centers, which became an example for pharmacists across the country through the American Pharmaceutical Association. After 6 years in this position, Emswiller purchased his own traditional pharmacy in Leesburg, VA where he further developed the model for the patient-focused pharmacy. By 1974, with the enthusiastic support of area physicians, Emswiller moved his innovative practice into a medical office building co-located with physicians and other health professionals. His new office-based pharmacy replaced numerous commercial goods from the inventory and was equipped with a private consulting office. At the site, patient care services expanded to include patient medication record reviews and blood pressure, glucose, and cholesterol monitoring in collaboration with nearby physicians. This practice grew until he retired in 2000.

Emswiller tirelessly gave back to his community and his profession. He was an Associate Clinical Instructor of Pharmacy at the Medical College of Virginia for over 25 years. Additionally, Emswiller served on Loudoun Memorial Hospital’s Board of Trustees, chaired the Virginia State Board of Pharmacy, chaired the American College of Apothecaries, and served on the Board of Directors of the American Pharmaceutical Association’s Foundation and the MCV School of Pharmacy National Advisory Council. Emswiller earned much recognition for his amazing work. The most prestigious of the awards he received is the Remington Honor Medal in 1999, which is the profession of pharmacy’s highest honor. Other awards include: Virginia Pharmaceutical Association’s ‘Daniel B. Smith’ Award, the highest honor given to a community pharmacist, 1983; Loudoun County ‘Man of the Year’, 1987; Outstanding Alumnus Award from Medical College of Virginia, Pharmacy Division, 1991; “Outstanding Pharmacist” Award presented by Virginia Pharmaceutical Association, the highest honor given for “outstanding and lasting contributions to their profession that will endure for a long period of time”; and the ‘J. Leon Lascoff Memorial’ Award presented by the American College of Apothecaries for outstanding service to the profession of pharmacy, 2000. Throughout his career, Emswiller was concerned with increasing the opportunities for pharmacists to have a greater impact on patient health outcomes. His primary message to students and practitioners was to challenge the status quo to do what is best for patients in any and every practice environment.

On December 10, 2009, Carl Emswiller passed away in Winchester, VA after a long battle with cancer. This symposium will serve in perpetuity as a continuation of his work to elevate community pharmacy practice for the improvement of patient’s health outcomes.

CONFERENCE SPEAKERS

Tim Musselman, Pharm.D. is the Executive Director of the Virginia Pharmacists Association, as role that he assumed in April 2009. He has worked at the Association since 2006 serving previously as Associate Executive Director. Prior to his work at VPPhA, he completed an Executive Residency in Association Management with the National Alliance of State Pharmacy Associations. Tim currently serves as a preceptor for all four schools and colleges of pharmacy in the Commonwealth of Virginia. He is the recipient of the 2010-11 Preceptor of the Year for the VCU School of Pharmacy. He is currently serving on the Pharmacy Marketing Group board of directors and also serves on many committees and workgroups relating to healthcare in Virginia.

Tim received his Doctor of Pharmacy degree from the University of Michigan College of Pharmacy in 2005 and his Bachelor Degree in Chemistry from Juniata College in 2001. Along with VPPhA, he is also a member of the American Pharmacists Association, Michigan Pharmacists Association, the American Society of Association Executives, the American Chemical Society, and the Phi Delta Chi Pharmacy Fraternity.

Dr. Ted Sherwin has practiced general dentistry in Orange, Virginia since 1985. His goal is to treat each of his patients with kindness, respect, and a gentle touch. He is known for his treatment of patients in need of complete restorative procedures such as partial and full mouth restorations with emphasis on cosmetic implants and function that are in tune with the mouth and it’s neuromuscular system.

Dr. Sherwin graduated from VCU School of Dentistry and received additional education at the Pankey Institute, studying under the world-renowned lecturer and author, Dr. Pete Dawson. Prestigiously honored by his peers, he has received fellowships from: The Academy of General Dentistry, American College of Dentists, International College of Dentists, The Pierre Fuchard Academy, The Virginia Dental Association.

Dr. Sherwin’s involvement in the Virginia Dental Association includes both the Association’s outreach programs to help the underserved, and many leadership positions. He currently serves as President of the Virginia Dental Association, but has previously served as State Chair of Rules and Regulations, Annual Meeting, Budget and Finance, and was elected to two terms as President of the Shenandoah Valley Dental Association. He has also served a four year term as Secretary-Treasurer of the VDA. Nationally, Dr. Sherwin was also on several Trustee Finance committees, as well as the Strategic Planning Committee for the American Dental Association.

Dr. Sherwin’s pursuit of excellence and treatment of his patients is well known, as is his commitment to helping those in need. Over the last twenty years, he has treated thousands of children in his community through the “Smiles for Children” program. He, his staff, and family have continued their mission work participating in ten Mission of Mercy projects in South West Virginia. Additionally, he has served his community through Rotary, the Library Board, and the School Board.

Russell Libby, MD, is founder and president of Virginia Pediatric Group, Ltd., a primary care pediatric practice with 3 offices in Northern Virginia, and co-founder, VP, and medical director of American Pediatric Consultants, Inc. a pediatric specialty home care service. He is president of HealthConnect, a primary care independent practice association. He is chief of general pediatrics at Inova Fairfax Hospital for Children and a member of the hospital’s leadership committee. Dr Libby is active in organized medicine, former President of the Medical Society of Virginia, and in positions of leadership at the American Academy of Pediatrics. He has been widely published on various topics pertaining to medical politics, home care, immunizations, and physician practice development.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

For the symposium this year, we are pleased to have Dr. Barbara Brandt as the keynote speaker.

Nationally and internationally known for her work in health professional education in general and in interprofessional education in particular, Dr. Brandt serves as the Associate Vice President for Education within the University of Minnesota’s Academic Health Center.

Since 2000, Dr. Brandt has held one of the only senior leadership positions in a U.S. university charged with systems-wide IPECP development across the health professions. She has developed leadership and capacity to align interprofessional education to practice, particularly in workforce development and the transformation of health care system. She developed the academic administrative platforms to support education and interprofessional education linked to practice.

In 2006, she led the development of the Collaborating Across Borders conference - a venue for leaders to exchange ideas about IPECP - with Dr. John Gilbert.

Dr. Brandt frequently speaks nationally and internationally on the topic of systems leadership in IPECP in such venues as the National Policy Forum, American Association of Medical Colleges, Health Systems, University of Minnesota College of Pharmacy, and director of the Minnesota Area Health Education Center.

Dr. Brandt holds a Masters of Education and Doctor of Philosophy degrees in Adult and Continuing Education with a specialty in continuing professional education from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign. Dr. Brandt has extensive teaching and administrative experience in continuing education for health professionals. Upon receiving her doctorate, she held a visiting assistant professorship in the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign College of Education for three years.

Dr. Brandt has written many articles, given numerous national presentations, and consulted with universities and organizations in the area of continuing professional education, curricular development in health professions education, and organizational leadership. Currently she serves as Professor, Pharmaceutical Care and Health Systems, University of Minnesota College of Pharmacy, and director of the Minnesota Area Health Education Center (MN AHEC).
